Langford House,
Bangalore,
21st April 1920.

My dear Mr. Rantaraja Urs.

In continuation of my letter of yesterday, I write to inform you that I have had a long discussion with the Resident this morning and I explained to him the position regarding Mr. Ari's visit to Mysore. I have also suggested that there may be a discussion at the Residency at which the Resident may be present, between Mr. Ari and our officers and I shall also be glad to be present if he considered it necessary. The Resident said that the idea was agreeable to him. So I propose to arrange for a discussion accordingly after our officers have finished their discussion with Mr. Ari. I now send you a copy of the notes of the informal discussions that have already taken place yesterday. To-day's proceedings will also be similarly reported to you in due course.

The Resident said that it may not be necessary for us to go to Simla as he has very clearly explained the Durbar's proposals and he has suggested that, should the matter be still not clear to the Government of India, the
